CAROL G. GREEN
CLERK OF APPELLATE COURTS

~~The news media and educational television stations may photograph and record public proceedings before the Appellate, District and Municipal Courts of this state in accordance with the following applicable conditions and procedures and with such other conditions and procedures as may be required from time to time by the Supreme Court:~~

(a) Preface.

The increasing use of various electronic devices including phones, tablets, and other wireless communication devices continually challenges a court's legitimate concerns for courtroom security, participant distraction, and decorum.

These electronic devices are redefining the news media, the informational product disseminated, and the timeliness of the content. They also result in new expectations for the court and participants for immediate access to information.

Policies developed to address the court's concerns should include enough flexibility to take into consideration that electronic devices have become a necessary tool for court observers, journalists, and participants and continue to rapidly change and evolve. The courts should champion the enhanced access and the transparency made possible by use of these devices while protecting the integrity of proceedings within the courtroom.

(b) Applicability. The following provisions are subject in all cases to a judicial district or court issuing specific orders, local rules, or guidelines for the use of electronic devices in judicial proceedings.
